John L. Sullivan claims to have retired from the ring, he not refusing however to fight with gloves occasionally with the Queensbury rules. He can clear from seven to ten thousand dollars a night by knocking clean off the platform some claimant to his own honor, and it is not strange that he refuses to go to the wilds and fight with bare fists.

It is claimed that the remains of Noah's Ark have been found on the summit of Mount Ararat. An adventurous and speculative Yankee was promptly on the spot negotiating for its removal. He should hurry up and stand in with the Red sea explorers, and secure either Pharaoh or some of his generals, (they are probably "petrified" with astonishment as the strange occurrences at that famous spot,) get the remains of the tower of Babel and a few such curiosities and will then be in shape to travel with a "grand aggregation."

Speaking of the killing of Lewis Larson at Aitkin last week, of which the DISPATCH made mention, the Age of that place says:

Lewis Larson, a Sweed about 25 or 30 years of age who has been in the employ of the government at the Winnebegoshish dam for some time, came down to Aitkin about three weeks ago with $100 of money with him. About three days were sufficient for him to squander or lose it, and since then he has subsisted as best he could, having no regular employment but doing a few days work here and there until Saturday last (25th), when he found work at the section a short way east of town. He was last seen alive on Sunday night about half past ten, very drunk and starting for the section house. The night was extremely dark, and whether Larson lay drunk on the track or was on his way to the section house when the fatal train struck him will never be known.—The engineer and fireman both protest the impossibility of his being on his feet, and it is almost incredible that such could be the case and they not see him. The fireman however saw, he says, some dark substance upon the track between the rails which he supposed to be a lump of coal, lying very near the spot where Larson was killed, and which fact he repeated to his engineer who took a torch, after he had pulled up at the platform, and examined his engine to see what, if anything, he had struck, but found nothing. The fact was further developed by four competent witnesses that certify to the fact that contrary to the statement of the engineer; he approached the station at a tremendious rate of speed, and it is not probable that the fireman had time to determine what he had seen until they were upon it. The verdict of the coroner's jury given in full below very justly censures them for approaching a station at so high a rate of speed and for carelessness in not keeping a more vigilant watch. The engineers and firemen of two other later trains are also censured in deserving terms for passing over a human body at a point so near a station, where they are supposed to be under a moderate rate of speed without seeing or reporting the fact. The words "criminal carlessness" are well timed and fitly chosen when applied to those in charge of the engine which did the killing. Men who have run through this village for years and who are well aware of its location and that men are passing and repassing ahead of their trains every night as they approach the station, to the large hotel not twenty feet south of the track, have no business to run at a lightning speed clear up to the platform. Had they properly slowed up before crossing the bridge and run only moderately into the station, keeping a more vigilent watch, there can be but little doubt that Larson would have been seen at least, and perhaps saved.

THE JAVA HORROR.

A Hundred Thousand People Believed to Have Lost Their Lives—Fire and Water Combine to Scatter Ruin.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The latest advices from Batavia, the capital of Java, show that the volcanic eruptions in that island are much more serious than at first indicated. The disturbances began on the island of Krakatoa in the strait of Sunda, about fifteen miles off the coast of Java. The deep rumblings were distinctly audible at Surallerta and Batavia, about forty-five and twenty-two miles off respectively. Little alarm was felt at first, but within a few hours showers of stones began to fall at Jogjakesta, Sourbaya, and Samarang. All through the night showers of red-hot rocks and ashes fell, making complete darkness in all these towns. In Batavia there was an occasional fall, and it was difficult to keep the street lights burning in the European quarter. By the next morning all communication with Anjier was cut off, all the bridges having been destroyed by the descending rocks and ashes and the road rendered impassable.

The eruptions began Saturday night. The next morning the disturbances had extended beneath the strait, the waters of which were soon boiling and hissing. Even as far away as Madura furious waves were lashed into mountains of foam. The rumblings became more distinct, and by noon Maha Merux and Gunung Gunter, the largest volcanoes in the world, were belching forth flames. Soon more than a third of the volcanoes on the island were in active eruption. About dusk Gunung Gunter began belching forth enormous streams of white acid sulphurous mud and lava. Enormous fragments of cinders were hurled high in the air, and carried death and destruction upon the villages below. Fifteen huge waterspouts were formed in the sea, and have been causing great damage ever since.

Men, women and children rushed from their dwellings, but hundreds were unable to get out before their houses fell and were buried beneath great masses of rocks and mud, which were soon piled upon the buildings. In the meantime huge boulders at red or white heat were hurled from Gunung's crater with terrific force, and after going hundreds of feet would fall with a whirr, crushing thatched roofs and killing the natives. Fissure after fissure soon appeared in the mountain, while soon in the valleys huge chasms yawned.

The forests in the northern part of the island were soon fired by the red hot vomitings from the craters, and the giants of the woods fell like sheaves of wheat. As the eruptions increased the waters of the sea were driven with awful force up the steep, rocky inclines, reaching the lava flow, cooling it, and forming masses of black, bright red, purple, and brown. The waves also came over the marshy plain, engulfing the hamlets of the fishermen and sweeping away every vestige of humanity.

At the entrance to Batavia there was a large group of houses extending along the shore, occupied by Chinamen. This portion of the city was entirely swept away. There were 25,000 Chinamen living in this section, and it is estimated that not more than 5,000 escaped with their lives.

Of 3,500 Europeans and Americans in Batavia, perhaps 800 perished. At Anjier the European and American quarter was first overwhelmed by rocks, mud, and lava from the crater, and then water came up and swallowed the rivers, leaving nothing to mark the site, and causing loss somewhere in the neighborhood of two hundred lives. At least 1,500 people were drowned in Anjier.

The island of Serang, just off the coast, was completely inundated, and not a soul remains in it to tell the tale of the disaster. At Cherribon the loss of life and property by the falling of the rocks and the flow of lava must have been enormous. Other islands suffered seriously.

The loss of life from various elements of the terrible disturbances must be fully 75,000, but the number of those who perished can never, of course, be approximated. A violent shock occurred in the island of Sumatra Monday afternoon, and it was feared that other violent disturbances might occur. Middle Island, ten miles off the Japanese coast, and half way between extreme points of Java and Sumatra, was almost wholly engulphed in the seas. The small island of Singkel, probably originally only a cone blown up by an eruptive paroxysm, has entirely disappeared. It was uninhabited.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Reports from Batavia received are of a more encouraging nature, although details of the horrors of the eruption continue to come. After the sudden subsidence of the disturbances in the kingdom of Bantam Monday, the eruptions seemed to lose their force for a time, and the people of Batavia experienced a feeling of relief in the hope that the worst had passed. The quieter conditions continued until about 10 o'clock, when the craters once more began to send up great masses of destructive matter, although without the force of the former actions. The eruptions seem to be more violent at night than during the day. By 11 o'clock the Papandayang, which is 7,034 feet high, was in a very active state of paroxysmal eruption. It was accompanied by detonations said to have been heard many miles away in Sumatra. Three distinct columns of flame were seen to rise from the mountain to vast hight, and its whole surface soon appeared as if covered with fiery lava streams, which spread to great distances on all sides. Stones fell for miles around, and the black, fragmentary matter carried into the air caused total darkness. A whirlwind accompanied this eruption, by which houses, roofs, trees, and men and horses were carried into the air. The quantity of ashes ejected was such as to cover the ground and rooms of houses at Denamo to the depth of several inches. Off Point Caay the floating pumice on the sea formed a layer two feet thick, through which vessels forced their way with great difficulty. The rise of vapor produced the appearance of a column several thousand feet high, based on the edge of the crater. It appeared from a distance to consist of a mass of innumerable globular clouds of extreme whiteness, resembling vast balls of cotton, rolling one over the other as they ascended, impelled by the pressure of fresh supplies, incessantly urged upward by the continued explosions. At a great height the column dilated horizontally and spread into a dark and turbid circular cloud, shaped like an immense umbrella. Forked lightning of great vividness and beauty continually darted from different parts of the cloud.

Suddenly the scene was changed. The mountain was split into seven parts without a moment's warning, and where Papandayang had stood alone there were now seven distinct peaks looming up to a great height. In the seams opened could be seen great balls of molten matter. From the fissures poured clouds of steam, and the black ejected lapilli nowed in steady streams and ran slowly down the mountain-sides, forming beds two or three hundred feet in extent. Exhalations of carbonic acid gas were so abundant that birds and animals in large numbers were killed by it, and a few human beings lost their lives in the same way.

This proved to be the turning point in the eruption, for the great fissures opened seemed to act as safety valves, through which the streams of lava gently flowed down into the valleys. The volcanic fires, though still burning at last advices, had lost most of their fierceness, and the steam generated found vent without being forced through the comparatively narrow mouths of the old craters. One of the queer incidents was the sudden rising during Tuesday forenoon of fourteen new volcanic mountains in the Straits of Sunda, forming a complete chain in almost a strait line between Point St. Nicholas, on the Javanese coast, and Hoga Point, on the coast of Lumatra, almost on the tops of what had been the Merak and Middle islands, which sank into the sea Monday.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—A correspondent of Amsterdam says: It is believed 100,000 persons perished in North Bantam in the recent calamity. It is also believed the garrison and fort of Anjer was swept away. An extensive plain of volcanic stone formed in the sea near Lampong, Sumatra, preventing communication with Telokbelong and southwest Java.

THE BANDIT'S TRIAL.

GALLATIN, Mo., Aug. 28.—In the James trial Mrs. Samuels appeared on the witness stand and was sworn, after which the cross-examination of Dick Liddell was taken up.

Liddell testified that each member of the gang at the Winston robbery had two pistols. Just after they left the ground Frank reloaded, saying he and Jesse had several shots. Regarding the agreement of the surrender, witness said before he received the promise of immunity he told Sheriff Timberlake the same story as he recited here. This was after Clarence Hite had surrendered in Kentucky. This ended Liddell's testimony.

Gov. Johnson, of the defense, here proposed to expunge Liddell's testimony from the record, on the ground that witness was a fellow conspirator, and no accomplice's testimony can be used against a conspirators unless he has been jointly indicted with the party on trial. Overruled and exception noted.

GALLATIN, Sept. 1.—At the James trial a number of witnesses, some of them relatives of the prisoner, were examined, their testmony going to confirm that of other witnesses on the same side as to the defendant's absence from Missouri at the time of the Winston robbery and murder. A feature of the trial was the reproof and fine administered to Gen. Jo. Shelby, who was intoxicated when he testified and conducted himself in a most outrageous manner, threatening the counsel for the prosecution and drawing a pistol in court. The judge imposed a fine of $10. When told that an officer of the court had sworn that he (Shelby) had drawn a pistol in court, he remarked: "Then he lied." This, however, did not bring any further punishment from the judge.

Mrs. Zerelda Samuels testified that she had lived in Clay county, near Kearney, for forty years, and was mother of defendent. He is 41 years old. Asked as to the date of Jesse's death, she showed much feeling, and answered in a sobbing and choked voice: "Jesse was at my house in May, 1881, accompanied by Dick Liddell. I asked Jesse where Frank was, and he told me he left him in Kentucky in bad health. I commenced crying, and said: 'Son, you know he is dead, and you might as well tell me.' He said: 'No; he is alive and in Kentucky,' and then Dick Liddell spoke up and said the same thing."

After a recess of fifteen minutes defendant took the stand. He showed not the least trepidation, but looking the jury square in the face, he spoke in a distinct voice substantially as follows:

"I am a defendant in this case. In the winter of of 1876 I went into Tennessee, came to Nashville in July, 1877; rented a farm in the White creek neighborhood. In 1880 was logging for the Indiana Lumber company. Was hard at work. My health becoming injured I moved into Nashville to go into business. First met Jesse the year after I went to Nashville; it was in a store. He stepped up and spoke, but called no names. He said he was living in Hamblen county, Tenn., and buying grain. I saw Bill Ryan in 1879. I did not see Dick Liddell, Ryan and Jesse together very often. I left Nashville, firstly, to look for a livelihood for my family; secondly, to get away from these parties. We went to George Hite's, a relative in Kentucky. Regarding the officers' appearance near Hite's, three men approached, and Jesse said: 'They are after us.' I said: 'No, they can't be after us.' Then Dick Liddell said: "Jesse and I borrowing a couple of horses at Nashville, and they are after us.' The officers passed and didn't come back. Wood Hite followed them a short distance. Is is said there was a strong resemblance between Wood Hite and myself. We went from Hite's to Logan county, Kentucky, and Jesse and Dick went away—don't know where. No arrangement was made between them and me to rob the express at Kansas City. On the contrary I tried to dissuade them from going to Missouri; as it was unsafe; advised Dick to go to work. Between the 10th and 15th of May, 1881, I went to Louisville, and thence to Clay county, Texas. Went to Mrs. Palmers in June, and stayed five or six weeks. I went from there into the Indian nation, a distance of 120 miles. I returned to Mrs. Palmer's when I heard of the Winston robbery, because I supposed I would be looked up for having a hand in that transaction. While away on that trip I heard of the Bluecut robbery. When I left Tennessee I instructed my wife to go to Gen. Shelby and see if anything could be done for me, as I wanted to surrender if I could have a fair and impartial trial. I told her if nothing could be done to go to her brother's in California, which she did. In Texas my health was bad. From there I returned to Tennessee. I met my wife in Kentucky and we traveled through Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina, looking for a secluded place of residence. We finally returned to Lynchburg, Va. In April I heard of Jesse's assassination. I sought an interview with Gov. Crittenden, in which the governor stated that when the question was asked, 'What about Frank James?' that as none of Frank's friends had ever said anything to him about it, he wouldn't say what he would do. This gave me hope that I might be permitted to give myself up and have a fair trial. I had nothing to do with shipping arms into Missouri; was not in the state from the time I went to Tennessee to when I passed through from Texas in 1881."

GALLATIN, Mo., Sept. 5.—The new tactics of the defense in the James trial were shown when Allan H. Palmer, of Texas, a brother-in-law of Frank, was called to testify. He swore that he saw Frank in Texas, at his home, when he came back from working on the railroad at Fort Worth, about the 1st of August, but when questioned about who he had worked for and with whom he had lodged and boarded at and about Fort Worth he could not give a single name nor describe a single man.

Frank's story was well told, and took capitally until the state got at him on cross-examination. There when it came to explaining and talking about his presence in Texas and his visit of three months, though he had ridden 450 miles, he could not name a person he had seen or stopped with, or describe a place. He was accurate and circumstantial about dates, places, and persons east of the Mississippi, but when it came to his Texas tour he was forgetful.

Thomas W. Phillips, a prominent member of the "Desciples" church, to which Garfield belonged, says that a well-managed campaign was prosecuted among members of that church in Indiana to further the interests of the Republican candidate, and it is asserted that it was successful enough of itself to explain why Indiana went Republican at the election.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Rodiger & McIntyre's market letter of this evening says: The month of August closed on a weak market for wheat, it being generally acknowledged that the crop of spring wheat is a good one. The demand for export was less promising the past week, and shipments from here were limited, showing a total of 231,680 bushels against receipts of 553,730 bushels. To-day prices suffered further, to the extent of about 1c; October selling from $1.02 down to $1.00¾, and September touching 98¾c, the market closing with a slight improvement this noon. Corn, receipts of which have been 2,877,000 bushels against shipments of 2,614,000 for the week, was lower in price. In oats prices are so low that they yield reluctantly. Provisions have been comparatively steady, dull and without any marked feature.

There will be a sparring match at the Garden Theatre on Friday evening.

The Peerless Dramatic Troupe showed to slim houses in this city last Friday and Saturday evenings.

The Nicollet House has undergone another change of management, T. C. Kinney is now the landlord.

E. R. Totton, a brother of H. S. Totton of this city is visiting in Brainerd.—He hails from Pennsylvanian.

Dan Smith and family are rejoicing over the advent of a new boy at their house which happened last week.

E. W. Kaley, of the N. P. Tin shops was among the many who took in the sights at the cities below on Monday.

The new N. P. hospital looms up in fine shape on the West side of the river. The structure will cost about $25,000.

Editor Stivers of the Journal took the noon train for St. Paul and Minneapolis on Monday to catch a glimpse of the festivities.

Geo. S. Canfield went west Monday night to the Yellowstone Park and will make an extended trip through that beautiful region.

The O'Neil building on the corner of Front and Fourth streets, is going up rapidly under the supervision of White & White, and will be quite an addition to that corner.

Everybody who went to St. Paul from Brainerd, and there was not a few there, say that they were amply repaid, and that it was one of the largest times on record.

President Arthur, Gen. Grant and other noted gentlemen passed through Brainerd on Monday morning last on their way home from the Yellowstone Park region.

The Last Turn saloon building has been pulled down and moved back and a new building is going up on the old site which will be used as a saloon, and will be occupied by Jas. Mehan.

An auction sale of tobacco, &c., the remnants of the stock of Mr. Peterson, of the firm of Peterson & Mahlum, attracted considerable attention last Tuesday. The sheriff had charge.

The mammoth advertisement of C. E. Smith & Co., has crowded out some of our interesting reading matter this week.—Next week we will give a description of the new building and business of this firm.

The different churches will hold a supper in Gregory park, where all are invited to go and fill up. The proceeds will be divided evenly between the different denominations participating. A good idea.

Chas. Millspaugh has entered into partnership with C. H. Congdon in the dairy business. They now have fifty milch cows and furnish milk in quantities that will supply their customers in summer as winter also.

The thunder shower on Friday night was quite serious, the lightning making things lively in several parts of the city. The office of the N. P. Hospital received a slight taste overturning the table, chairs, &c., and somewhat scaring the only occupant.

E. Curo, the man who has been running the Brainerd House, has jumped the country, leaving sundry unpaid debts, which together with the fact that he has sold mortgaged property make a complicated mess of it. The last named offense make it a states' prison job for him if he is found.

C. V. Wadham has leased the first floor of the I. O. O. F. building on Sixth street and will occupy it with his boot and shoe store as soon as it is ready for occupancy. Mr. W. carries a fine line of goods and with his new location he can make a fine display.

Brainerd must be an awful place for real sportsmen. The Tribune gives half a column to a catch of only 11 pounds in one day, the best of the season! The Tribune will issue an extra over a full grown cat fish if they ever get one.—[Red Lake Falls Messenger.

The business places will be closed up for a time on Saturday afternoon, so that everybody, whether employee or employer, young or old, man or woman, can turn out and swell the throng that will celebrate and help have a good time generally.

On the 17th inst. the Donaldson combination of Minneapolis will occupy Hartley Hall and give a sparring exhibition. James Mehan has been instrumental in getting them here and as they are well known undoubtedly the manager will do well by the operation, "Beecher," Banker and Phalon, of this city, will also participate.

J. H. Bixby had a narrow escape one evening last week from being robbed.—He was going through the park when he was sprang upon by a thug but escaped. These occurrences are getting to be too numerous for the comfort and safety of our people and a close lookout should be kept for these scoundrels who infest the city.

The boys who compose the Brainerd band out-did themselves at St. Paul on Monday and received more comments than any band in attendance. The Pioneer Press of Tuesday gives the following complimentary notice:

The Brainerd band, Prof. Driskell, leader, headed the traveling men's section and elicited the most favorable comment throughout the long line.

Mr. C. Roth, the Sixth street merchant, has moved his family here from St. Paul. Mr. R. has completed arrangements whereby he will occupy the first floor of L. J. Cale's new three-story brick block on Front street and will have one of the finest rooms and locations in Brainerd.

Principal—W. J. Turner, A. B.
Intermediate—Miss E. J. Hughes, of Pittsburgh.
Primaries—Misses Inez and Laura Pember.

More buildings are going up in Brainerd at the present time than the casual observer would imagine. A ride around the city discloses the fact that in every part new houses and business places are in course of construction, and buildings of very substantial proportions too. The fall building boom promises to be immense and from this time until it freezes up solid work will be pushed with all the vim that is possible. Every business in the city seems to be flourishing and our business men can thank themselves that they are located in as prosperous and growing town as Brainerd, where trade is lively the year round and where they do not have to depend entirely upon a good crop to insure their being able to continue doing business at "the old stand."

Mr. Henry Clark died in this city Monday, Sept. 3, about 6 p. m., just as the sun was setting he breathed his last.—Mr. Clarke was born in England, where he grew to manhood. After he was married he come over to Canada and settled in Montreal where he remained for several years. About four years ago he came to Brainerd. For some time he worked in the car shops. For a few months previous to his death he was engaged in running a bakery. He was sick for nearly four months and suffered greatly. He was a quiet and respected citizen. He leaves a wife and children to mourn his loss. The funeral services were conducted at the house by Elder W. W. Regan on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Clarke was 51 years old.

CELEBRATION EXTRAORDINARY!

BRAINERD TO THE FRONT

With an Industrial and Trades Procession, Speeches, Cannonading, Etc.

Let Everybody Turn Out and Make This an Occasion Long to be Remembered.

Saturday, Sept. 8th, 1883.

By the above heading it will readily be seen that something out of the usual line is to take place on Saturday of this week. This celebration is on the occasion of the driving of the Golden Spike, by Henry Villard, which will connect the gap and complete one of the greatest projects of man, the Northern Pacific railroad.—In consideration of the fact the people of this city have concluded to have a gala day, one of general rejoicing and jollification. The meeting that was caled to make arrangements for this occasion have appointed committees and completed the program and everything for a good time. The shops and business places will be closed and everybody is expected to lend a helping hand. The Little Falls band and Hartley Guards will be here to lend assistance, and if the arrangements that are laid down are carried out everything will pass of smoothly and to the satisfaction of all.

One of the prominent features of the day will be an Industrial and Trade procession, which will form at the corner of Sixth and Front streets at 1:30 p. m., where a line of March will be commenced, ending at Grogory Square, where speeches, music, refreshments and other attractions will be indulged in.

Excursion rates have been obtained from all points on the Northern Pacific railroad, so that parties from neighboring localities and towns can participate.

This occasion is intended to be the banner celebration north of St. Paul and with the co-operation of the citizens it can be made so.

The following letter was sent by the committee appointed to President Villard and, as will be seen by his reply, his party will stop at Brainerd on their way back, about the 19th or 20th, when another demonstration will be indulged in:

H. VILLARD, Esq.,
President N. P. R. R. Co.

Sir.—We, the undersigned, appointed as a committee for the purpose by the citizens of Brainerd, would earnestly request that, on your return from the ceremonies incidental to driving the Golden Spike that formally completes your great road, you with your distinguished guests will make it convenient to spend a few hours in Brainerd.

It would be a pleasure to us and perhaps of interest to yourself and guests to view this rapidly growing town, which has increased from a population of 1,960 in June, 1880, to 12,000 at the present moment.

Its citizens would be greatly pleased to greet you.

We are, with great respect, and in behalf of our fellow citizens,

Your obedient servants,
A. HOLLINGSWORTH,
LEON E. LUM.

HOTEL LAFAYETTE,
Minnetonka Beech, Minn., Sept. 3, 1883.

Messrs. A. Hollingsworth and Leon E. Lum, committee.

GENTLEMEN.—I beg to acknowledge receipt of and thank you for your favor of 1st inst.

In reply I am happy to say that myself and guests expect to stop at Brainerd on our return.

Respectfully yours,
H. VILLARD.

Mr. S. Walker, of Brainerd formerly of Santiago in this county, passed up Monday night with two carloads of very fine cattle for his market in Brainerd.—[Elk River Star.

The Little Falls Transcript says:

George R. Perley, a leading citizen of Brainerd, was in town Wednesday forenoon. He had lost his way and returned home on the first train.

F. X. Lafond came down from Brainerd on Friday to make his family a visit. He returned the first of the week, and has charge of Orr & Seeley's saw mill of that place. He reports everything running smoothly, but the supply of logs rather short.

B. E. Banker and Ben Lafond, two Brainerd professors of the manly art of self defense, will probably give a sparring exhibition in Little Falls during fair week.

H. Harrison, employed on the Brainerd Dispatch, was in town the first of the week visiting his family.

A party of Brainerd sportsmen are going out to Mille Lacs Lake, next week, on a hunting expedition. They don't seem to know that Lake Atexandria, but a little over 20 mile from that town, is ahead of any other place in the State for such expeditions.

In connection with the sudden and mysterious disappearance of Mr. Vining, from Brainerd, it is now said that his family are aware of his whereabouts, and that it is a move to evade numerous obligations. It is asserted that his father-in-law told about his leaving Brainerd, at least two weeks ago. We give the statements for what they are worth.—[Little Falls Sun.

In regard to the prisoner who escaped from the officer near Brainerd on the 25th, the Little Falls Sun has the following to say:

The facts are that soon after the horses were stolen, Sheriff Rasicot visited Fargo in search of the thieves, and being fully convinced that the thieves had taken that course, and that they would sooner or later pass through that city, he left such information as he possessed with the police of that city, with instructions to telegraph him in case of arrest. It seems, however, that John P. Sand, who is a brother of the owner of the stolen team and one of Sheriff Rasicot's deputies, went to Fargo after Rasicot's return, and stayed there and in that vicinity, on the look out, and resulted in the capture of one of the thieves in possession of the team, Sand, and not Rasicot, was the officer in charge of the prisoner at the time of the escape. It is to be regretted that it was not Sheriff Rasicot, as, if he had been, this horse thief would now be safely lodged in the county bastile. No county in the state can boast of a more efficient sheriff than this, and we feel perfectly safe in saying that when any criminal gets into Sheriff Rasicot's clutches he won't get away until released by due process of law. We understand that Sand sold the recovered team at Brainerd. They were so badly used up as to be practically worthless.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

According to the invitations previously issued, the above event took place at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, at the corner of Seventh and Juniper streets, on Wednesday evening, September 5th, 1883. The hour for the ceremony was set at 9 o'clock, but long before that hour the church was filled to overflowing, in fact the doorway and entrance was crowded with invited guests to witness the impressive ceremony. At precisely 9 o'clock, there was a rustling at the doorway which announced the arrival of the bridal party. They were escorted to the chancel by the ushers in the following order: Messrs. Koop and Parsons, followed by the bridesmaids and groomsmen, Mr. Ed. Hazen and Miss Jennie White, Dr. Kennedy and Miss Maud Sleeper, then came the bride's mother, Mrs. C. B. Sleeper, supported by the bridegroom, the bride, Miss Blanche Sleeper, being escorted by her father, Col. C. B. Sleeper. In the rear was two little girls, Miss Ethel Mason and Kinnie Wakely, who strewed flowers in the walk of the party, after which came the ushers, Messrs. F. M. Cable and Harry Gross. The bridal party took their position before the altar, where the solemn and impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Hawley. The altar was handsomely decorated with flowers and they certainly made a very comely wedding party.

The bride was dressed in cream colored gro-grain silk trimmed with costly white lace and made with a long train, while orange blossoms and a long tulle veil hanging down in graceful folds helped to complete the suit. Miss Maud Sleeper and Miss Jennie White, the bridesmaids, were dressed to suit the occasion, the former in white India mull, en train, the latter in Swiss muslin and satin en train.

The party repaired from the church edifice to the residence of Col. Sleeper on Laurel, where the reception was held from 10 till 11, and the newly married couple received many a harty congratulation for their life-long happiness and prosperity. The refreshments were served in the new opera house and an elegant repast it was indeed, the tables being ladened with all the luxuries of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith took the 2.15 train for Buffalo, N. Y., where they will visit for a few days and they will make a tour of the eastern cities and Canada, returning to their future home at Brainerd in about four weeks.

The following is the list of presents which were tendered to the couple and by a careful perusal they will be seen to be very elegant and costly:

To the bride from her father and mother, lot 12, block 39, first addition to the town (now city) of Brainerd.

To the bride and groom from Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sleeper, lots from 1 to 9 inclusive, in block 2 in Sleeper's Park addition to the city of Brainerd.

Consumption.

50,000 people die annually in the United States alone from this disease. This should be avoided; our people are too careless about an ordinary cough or cold, and other symptoms, of throat and lung affections lead to this disease. Two or three doses of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup will relieve an ordinary cough or cold. It does not dry up a cough like many preparations, and leave the desease behind it, but acts directly on the throat and bronchial tubes, removing all the phlegm and morbid matter that accumulates in the throat and lungs. It allays all irritation, and renders the voice clear and distinct. Trial size free. Sold by F. M. Cable & Co.

Mr. C. Roth has just returned from the Eastern markets, where he has been buying the finest and best selected stock of dry goods, &c., &c., ever brought to this market. It will pay you to look in at the Chicago store, Gross' old stand, Sixth street, before buying.

Piles

are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. A moisture like perspiration, psoducing a very disagreeable itching, particularly at night after getting warm in bed, is a very common attendant. Blind, bleeding and itching piles yield at once to to Dr. Bosanko's Pile remedy which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and affecting a permanent curi, where all other remedies have failed. Try it and be cured. Price, 50 cents, Sold by F. M. Cable & Co.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE.

Things Reported Concerning Men and Parties.

INDEPENDENCE, Iowa, Aug. 30.—The first joint discussion between the Republican and Democratic candidates for the governorship of Iowa took place at this place. The day was auspicious and the city was crowded with visitors. At the hour appointed fully five thousand people had gathered in court-house park to listen to the discussion. Quite a number of distinguished persons besides the speakers were present.

In the evening Gen. Weaver, the Greenback candidate for governor, spoke in the park, and he will be answered by Col. Hepburn, of Clarinda, Friday evening.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 1.—The Greenback state co vo tion met and organized with Thos. A. Armstrong of Pittsburg, as president. T. P. Rynder, of Altoona, and Capt. A. T. Marsh, of Erie, were renominated for auditor general and state treasurer respectively. T. P. Rynder was elected state chairman. The platform refers to the failure of the trade dollar to pass current as an argument in favor of the fiat idea, and calls upon the government to take upon itself the sole issue of money in sufficient amount to transact the business of the country upon a cash basis; denounces the national bank system, and monopoly of all kinds; favors a tariff for protection and a national bureau of labor.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Gen. Tom Nelson, of Indiana, ex-minister to Mexico, is in the city. He said he could name a Democratic ticket that would be hard to beat in Indiana, and he was a Republican. Dan Voorhees for governor, he said, would sweep the state for the Democrats. McDonald for president could also carry Indiana, he thought.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The Sun has a brief paragraph in its issue which definitely seems to put the "old ticket" business at rest. In answer to a correspondent who asked on whose authority The Sun had said that "it is certain that Mr. Tilden would not accept a nomination," that estimable journal frankly and cheerfully replied: "Our authority is a gentleman named Samuel J. Tilden."

WATERLOO, Iowa, Sept. 3.—Hon. Horace Boles, of this city, the leader of the anti-prohibition Republican movement in this state, addressed a large audience in Burnham's opera house. He said that prohibition had been made a partisan issue, and that the cry of the home against the saloon was a libel upon thousands of our citizens. Every voter should let his vote represent the dictates of his own conscience, regardless of party dictation. As a settlement of the liquor question he favored a license not so high as to be disregarded nor so low that it would not pay the increased taxation which the traffic brings about.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—While the Tallapoosa was at Bar Harbor, Me., recently, with Secretary Chandler and his wife on board, the secretary made no secret of his preference for Arthur for the presidency in 1884.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 2.—Gath telegraphs the Enquirer: The Sun's attempts to make Mr. Holman, of Indiana, president is chiefly effective by the leads between the type. Holman and Sunset Cox are pony candidates, and lack legs.

The Atlantic Gales.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—A St. Johns (N. F.) special says: The fleet of United States fishing-vessels which have arrived here reports a violent storm on the Great Banks on Sunday last. The gale rose from the eastward at 8 a. m., when hundreds of dories were away from the vessels overhauling trawls. Captain Hillier reports scores of dories turned upside down, and wreckage was strewn in every direction along his track coming westward. One French "banker" lost four dories and all their crews. It is computed, from all sources of information, that 100 dories and eighty men were lost in the storm. Most of the dories were swept by waves from the schooners' decks and the remainder capsized in the sea.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 3.—The first reliable information of the loss of life in the recent terrible storm on the coast of Novia Scotia come to hand, the sad news being of the drowning of nineteen Lunenburg fishermen by the wrecking of two vessels, and the probable death also of the entire crew of another bark.

The brigantine S. J. Miceon, which arrived here from Inaqua, brings news of the wreck of an unknown vessel, with the probable loss of her crew.

New Telegraph Scheme.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 1.—The Citizens' and Telegraphers' National Union Telegram and Cablegram company is announced. The capital stock is $5,000,000, in shares of $25 each, no person to be permitted to hold over $100,000 worth. The object of the company is to purchase or construct and operate independent telegraph and cable lines in the United States and Canada and across the Atlantic.

The articles of incorporation provide that the wires in cities shall be placed underground so far as practicable; that telephone patents may be purchased and telephone business transacted; that the term of existence of the company shall be fifty years; that the executive board shall consist of eight members, of whom four shall be from each of the classes specified; that the main office shall be in New York city and branch offices in Boston, Chicago, Washington, Charleston, New Orleans, San Francisco, and such other places as may be deemed necessary, and that as soon as $200,000 shall have been subscribed to the stock, work on the construction of the lines shall begin.

Young Nutt's Trial.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 3.—It has been difficult to obtain counsel to assist Prosecuting Attorney Young in the trial of young Nutt, who shot Dukes, after the latter had killed his (Nutt's) father, and written a letter announcing that he had debauched the sister and daughter. David Patterson, of Pittsburg, appears in the case, and assists District Attorney Johnson. The trial begins Sept. 6. Many gratuitous offers of counsel for the defendant have been made, but it is not yet known who will appear in the case.

Remarkable Tidal Wave.

"SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—Earthquake waves commenced on the San Celito tide-gauge at 1 o'clock a. m., August 27. They had increased in height, and still being exhibited. The height of the waves was about one foot, and the time about 40 minutes between the crests."

The remarkable disturbances noted above were probably caused by the same earthquake and tidal wave that destroyed Anjier and other towns in Java on the 27th of August.

Trouble in Colombia.

PANAMA, Aug. 31.—News from the interior of Colombia, received by steamer, says: "The political party represented by the "Solud Publica club" attempted a revolution, which was suppressed, and the political horizon is now brighter.

Temperance Convention.

COTTAGE CITY, Mass., Sept. 1.—The National Women's Christian Temperance union has begun a four days' convention at the Methodist tabernacle. Addresses were made by Mrs. Caroline Z. Buell, corresponding secretary of the union, and others. In the evening the principal address was by Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, of Boston.

Telegraphers' Salaries.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The Western Union Telegraph Company has issued an order making the hours for night work eight instead of seven and a half, and allowing extra pay for Sunday work. Extra service will be based on the number of week days in a month. This will result in a considerable increase of salary.

Pushing Things.

PANAMA, Sept. 1.—The works of the Panama canal are being pushed forward with great energy. The total number of workmen employed is over 10,000, principally Jamaicans. The work is divided among a number of contractors.

Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Commodore English has received the following telegram from Pensacola, dated Aug. 31: "Three new cases reported—two marines at the hospital, and one yard employe of the pay department, lately attending Brown."

Woman Suffrage Association.

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—The American Woman's Suffrage association will hold its annual meeting in the Brooklyn Academy of Music on Oct. 9 and 10.

Demand for Standard Dollars.

CROP OUTLOOK.

The Prospects as Set Forth by Various Reports.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Mark Lane Express, in a review of the British grain trade the last week, says: Fine weather the last fortnight has had an inestimable effect on crops, which re being threshed and marketed very fast, but the present indications are that the wheat crop of the United Kingdom this year will be one of the smallest ever known. Trade the last week in foreign wheat is quite demoralized.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 29.—The official estimates of the wheat and other crops in Russia show the yield to be generally satisfactory.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 30.—Reports from 100 tobacco towns in the Connecticut and Housatonic valleys indicate that the tobacco crop will be a full average one and excelling in quality.

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 2.—The frosts have killed the buckwheat crops in all this section of the country not protected by the lake winds, and the corn crop in the valleys has also been killed, and has been cut up by the farmers to save it for feed.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Mr. J. C. McMullin, vice-president, and Mr. C. H. Chappell, general manager of the Chicago & Alton, has returned from a trip of inspection over their road. They speak enthusiastically of the prospects for a good corn crop this year along their entire line. In Missouri, they say, the corn has so far advanced that frost can do it no danger, and two weeks more of fine weather will insure a full crop in Illinois.

Villard's Guests.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Mr. Henry Villard, president of the Northern Pacific, has at length, through his private secretary, completed the roster of his transcontinental excursion party which will witness the driving of the last spike on the great Northern line the morning of Sept. 8, near Helena, M. T. The list includes 336 names, and is composed of noted men from all the civilized nations.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—President Arthur is to join the Villard excursion to attend the opening ceremonies of the Northern Pacific rail way.

LAKE MINNETONKA, Minn., Sept. 3.—About 350 of the guests of the Northern Pacific road spent Sunday together here. Complaint is made that the earl of Onslow demands for himself and lady a special coach, with baggage car for his personal effects, and sent his servants to find accommodation among the invited guests. Secretary Teller has joined the party. Gen. Grant and Wm. M. Evarts are members of the party.

Railway Accident Statistics.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—The Railroad Gazette shows a total for the month of July of 119 accidents, in which 57 persons were killed and 204 injured, an increase of 27 accidents 39 killed, and 148 injured, as compared with the totals of July, 1882. The seven months of the current year, to the end of July show a total of 930 accidents, 278 killed, and 1,012 injured; a monthly average of 133 accidents, 40 killed, and 145 injured. July was below the average in accidents, but above it in killed and injured, two or three very fatal accidents largely swelling the number of casualities.

Excitement in France.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—This has been a day of excitement in social as well as political circles, and all classes are deeply agitated. Between the hours of sunset and sunrise the entire city was placarded with copies of a proclamation which pronounced the Comte de Paris king of France under the title of Louis Philippe II. The dangerous bits of paper were not discovered until morning, and then they adorned nearly every billboard and dead wall. It is estimated that no less a number than 25,000 were put out.

Weekly Record of Failures.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The business failures throughout the United States and Canada, as reported to New York, number for the seven days ending August 31, 186, as compared with 165 last week, showing an increase of 21, distributed as follows: New England states, 26; middle states, 26; southern, 31; western, 52; Pacific states and territories, 22; Canada and the Provinces, 28; New York city, 1.

Some Chicagoan telegraphed a Boston financier that the patent suit of Pullman against the Wagner company will be settled by a consolidation of the organizations.

John L. Sullivan claims to have retired from the ring, he not refusing however to fight with gloves occasionally with the Queensbury rules. He can clear from seven to ten thousand dollars a night by knocking clean off the platform some claimant to his own honor, and it is not strange that he refuses to go to the wilds and fight with bare fists.

It is claimed that the remains of Noah's Ark have been found on the summit of Mount Ararat. An adventurous and speculative Yankee was promptly on the spot negotiating for its removal. He should hurry up and stand in with the Red sea explorers, and secure either Pharaoh or some of his generals, (they are probably "petrified" with astonishment as the strange occurrences at that famous spot,) get the remains of the tower of Babel and a few such curiosities and will then be in shape to travel with a "grand aggregation."

Speaking of the killing of Lewis Larson at Aitkin last week, of which the DISPATCH made mention, the Age of that place says:

Lewis Larson, a Sweed about 25 or 30 years of age who has been in the employ of the government at the Winnebegoshish dam for some time, came down to Aitkin about three weeks ago with $100 of money with him. About three days were sufficient for him to squander or lose it, and since then he has subsisted as best he could, having no regular employment but doing a few days work here and there until Saturday last (25th), when he found work at the section a short way east of town. He was last seen alive on Sunday night about half past ten, very drunk and starting for the section house. The night was extremely dark, and whether Larson lay drunk on the track or was on his way to the section house when the fatal train struck him will never be known.—The engineer and fireman both protest the impossibility of his being on his feet, and it is almost incredible that such could be the case and they not see him. The fireman however saw, he says, some dark substance upon the track between the rails which he supposed to be a lump of coal, lying very near the spot where Larson was killed, and which fact he repeated to his engineer who took a torch, after he had pulled up at the platform, and examined his engine to see what, if anything, he had struck, but found nothing. The fact was further developed by four competent witnesses that certify to the fact that contrary to the statement of the engineer; he approached the station at a tremendious rate of speed, and it is not probable that the fireman had time to determine what he had seen until they were upon it. The verdict of the coroner's jury given in full below very justly censures them for approaching a station at so high a rate of speed and for carelessness in not keeping a more vigilant watch. The engineers and firemen of two other later trains are also censured in deserving terms for passing over a human body at a point so near a station, where they are supposed to be under a moderate rate of speed without seeing or reporting the fact. The words "criminal carlessness" are well timed and fitly chosen when applied to those in charge of the engine which did the killing. Men who have run through this village for years and who are well aware of its location and that men are passing and repassing ahead of their trains every night as they approach the station, to the large hotel not twenty feet south of the track, have no business to run at a lightning speed clear up to the platform. Had they properly slowed up before crossing the bridge and run only moderately into the station, keeping a more vigilent watch, there can be but little doubt that Larson would have been seen at least, and perhaps saved.

THE JAVA HORROR.

A Hundred Thousand People Believed to Have Lost Their Lives—Fire and Water Combine to Scatter Ruin.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The latest advices from Batavia, the capitol of Java, show that the volcanic eruptions in that island are much more serious than at first indicated. The disturbances began on the island of Krakatoa in the strait of Sunda, about fifteen miles off the coast of Java. The deep rumblings were distinctly audible at Surallerta and Batavia, about forty-five and twenty-two miles off respectively. Little alarm was felt at first, but within a few hours showers of stones began to fall at Jogjakesta, Sourbaya, and Samarang. All through the night showers of red-hot rocks and ashes fell, making complete darkness in all these towns. In Batavia there was an occasional fall, and it was difficult to keep the street lights burning in the European quarter. By the next morning all communication with Anjier was cut off, all the bridges having been destroyed by the descending rocks and ashes and the road rendered impassable.

The eruptions began Saturday night. The next morning the disturbances had extended beneath the strait, the waters of which were soon boiling and hissing. Even as far away as Madura furious waves were lashed into mountains of foam. The rumblings became more distinct, and by noon Maha Merux and Gunung Gunter, the largest volcanoes in the world, were belching forth flames. Soon more than a third of the volcanoes on the island were in active eruption. About dusk Gunung Gunter began belching forth enormous streams of white acid sulphurous mud and lava. Enormous fragments of cinders were hurled high in the air, and carried death and destruction upon the villages below. Fifteen huge waterspouts were formed in the sea, and have been causing great damage ever since.

Men, women and children rushed from their dwellings, but hundreds were unable to get out before their houses fell and were buried beneath great masses of rocks and mud, which were soon piled upon the buildings. In the meantime huge boulders at red or white heat were hurled from Gunung's crater with terrific force, and after going hundreds of feet would fall with a whirr, crushing thatched roofs and killing the natives. Fissure after fissure soon appeared in the mountain, while soon in the valleys huge chasms yawned.

The forests in the northern part of the island were soon fired by the red hot vomitings from the craters, and the giants of the woods fell like sheaves of wheat. As the eruptions increased the waters of the sea were driven with awful force up the steep, rocky inclines, reaching the lava flow, cooling it, and forming masses of black, bright red, purple, and brown. The waves also came over the marshy plain, engulfing the hamlets of the fishermen and sweeping away every vestige of humanity.

At the entrance to Batavia there was a large group of houses extending along the shore, occupied by Chinamen. This portion of the city was entirely swept away. There were 25,000 Chinamen living in this section, and it is estimated that not more than 5,000 escaped with their lives.

Of 3,500 Europeans and Americans in Batavia, perhaps 800 perished. At Anjier the European and American quarter was first overwhelmed by rocks, mud, and lava from the crater, and then water came up and swallowed the rivers, leaving nothing to mark the site, and causing loss somewhere in the neighborhood of two hundred lives. At least 1,500 people were drowned in Anjier.

The island of Serang, just off the coast, was completely inundated, and not a soul remains in it to tell the tale of the disaster. At Cherribon the loss of life and property by the falling of the rocks and the flow of lava must have been enormous. Other islands suffered seriously.

The loss of life from various elements of the terrible disturbances must be fully 75,000, but the number of those who perished can never, of course, be approximated. A violent shock occurred in the island of Sumatra Monday afternoon, and it was feared that other violent disturbances might occur. Middle Island, ten miles off the Japanese coast, and half way between extreme points of Java and Sumatra, was almost wholly engulphed in the seas. The small island of Singkel, probably originally only a cone blown up by an eruptive paroxysm, has entirely disappeared. It was uninhabited.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Reports from Batavia received are of a more encouraging nature, although details of the horrors of the eruption continue to come. After the sudden subsidence of the disturbances in the kingdom of Bantam Monday, the eruptions seemed to lose their force for a time, and the people of Batavia experienced a feeling of relief in the hope that the worst had passed. The quieter conditions continued until about 10 o'clock, when the craters once more began to send up great masses of destructive matter, although without the force of the former actions. The eruptions seem to be more violent at night than during the day. By 11 o'clock the Papandayang, which is 7,034 feet high, was in a very actice state of paroxysmal eruption. It was accompanied by detonations said to have been heard many miles away in Sumatra. Three distinct columns of flame were seen to rise from the mountain to vast hight, and its whole surface soon appeared as if covered with fiery lava streams, which spread to great distances on all sides. Stones fell for miles around, and the black, fragmentary matter carried into the air caused total darkness. A whirlwind accompanied this eruption, by which houses, roofs, trees, and men and horses were carried into the air. The quantity of ashes ejected was such as to cover the ground and rooms of houses at Denamo to the depth of several inches. Off Point Caay the floating pumice on the sea formed a layer two feet thick, through which vessels forced their way with great difficulty. The rise of vapor produced the appearance of a column several thousand feet high, based on the edge of the crater. It appeared from a distance to consist of a mass of innumerable globular clouds of extreme whiteness, resembling vast balls of cotton, rolling one over the other as they ascended, impelled by the pressure of fresh supplies, incessantly urged upward by the continued explosions. At a great height the column dilated horizontally and spread into a dark and turbid circular cloud, shaped like an immense umbrella. Forked lightning of great vividness and beauty continually darted from different parts of the cloud.

Suddenly the scene was changed. The mountain was split into seven parts without a moment's warning, and where Papandayang had stood alone there were now seven distinct peaks looming up to a great height. In the seams opened could be seen great balls of molten matter. From the fissures poured clouds of steam, and the black ejected lapilli nowed in steady streams and ran slowly down the mountain-sides, forming beds two or three hundred feet in extent. Exhalations of carbonic acid gas were so abundant that birds and animals in large numbers were killed by it, and a few human beings lost their lives in the same way.

This proved to be the turning point in the eruption, for the great fissures opened seemed to act as safety valves, through which the streams of lava gently flowed down into the valleys. The volcanic fires, though still burning at last advices, had lost most of their fierceness, and the steam generated found vent without being forced through the comparatively narrow mouths of the old craters. One of the queer incidents was the sudden rising during Tuesday forenoon of fourteen new volcanic mountains in the Straits of Sunda, forming a complete chain in almost a strait line between Point St. Nicholas, on the Javanese coast, and Hoga Point, on the coast of Lumatra, almost on the tops of what had been the Merak and Middle islands, which sank into the sea Monday.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—A correspondent of Amsterdam says: It is believed 100,000 persons perished in North Bantam in the recent calamity. It is also believed the garrison and fort of Anjer was swept away. An extensive plain of volcanic stone formed in the sea near Lampong, Sumatra, preventing communication with Telokbelong and southwest Java. Howard & Denig, who undertook to erect a capitol at Indianapolis, have abandoned their contract, claiming to have lost over $300,000. Their sureties are citizens of Chicago, who will submit new propositions to the state house commissioners.

Suits have been brought by workmen against a Pennsylvania company to recover amounts deducted from their wages in payment of bills incurred at the company's store, and judgment has been rendered against the company in two cases. The question involved concerns every corporation in the state.

At Marshall, Texas, a party of white men went to the negro headquarters to witness the organization of a colored military company, and were halted and fired upon. Shooting then became general, after which the negroes fled. Three hundred white citizens organized and patrolled the town all night.

The fire record: Loring & Avery's tannery, Watertown, N. Y.; loss, $150,000. Nunnemacher & Co.'s flouring mill, Milwaukee; loss, $40,000; insurance, $50,000. Boston Boot & Shoe factory, New Orleans; loss, $50,000. Grist mill and other buildings at Norristown, Pa.; loss, $18,000. Four miles of woods on Long Island.

THE BANDIT'S TRIAL.

GALLATIN, Mo., Aug. 28.—In the James trial Mrs. Samuels appeared on the witness stand and was sworn, after which the cross-examination of Dick Liddell was taken up.

Liddell testified that each member of the gang at the Winston robbery had two pistols. Just after they left the ground Frank reloaded, saying he and Jesse had several shots. Regarding the agreement of the surrender, witness said before he received the promise of immunity he told Sheriff Timberlake the same story as he recited here. This was after Clarence Hite had surrendered in Kentucky. This ended Liddell's testimony.

Gov. Johnson, of the defense, here proposed to expunge Liddell's testimony from the record, on the ground that witness was a fellow conspirator, and no accomplice's testimony can be used against a conspirators unless he has been jointly indicted with the party on trial. Overruled and exception noted.

GALLATIN, Sept. 1.—At the James trial a number of witnesses, some of them relatives of the prisoner, were examined, their testmony going to confirm that of other witnesses on the same side as to the defendant's absence from Missouri at the time of the Winston robbery and murder. A feature of the trial was the reproof and fine administered to Gen. Jo. Shelby, who was intoxicated when he testified and conducted himself in a most outrageous manner, threatening the counsel for the prosecution and drawing a pistol in court. The judge imposed a fine of $10. When told that an officer of the court had sworn that he (Shelby) had drawn a pistol in court, he remarked: "Then he lied." This, however, did not bring any further punishment from the judge.

Mrs. Zerelda Samuels testified that she had lived in Clay county, near Kearney, for forty years, and was mother of defendent. He is 41 years old. Asked as to the date of Jesse's death, she showed much feeling, and answered in a sobbing and choked voice: "Jesse was at my house in May, 1881, accompanied by Dick Liddell. I asked Jesse where Frank was, and he told me he left him in Kentucky in bad health. I commenced crying, and said: 'Son, you know he is dead, and you might as well tell me.' He said: 'No; he is alive and in Kentucky,' and then Dick Liddell spoke up and said the same thing."

After a recess of fifteen minutes defendant took the stand. He showed not the least trepidation, but looking the jury square in the face, he spoke in a distinct voice substantially as follows:

"I am a defendant in this case. In the winter of of 1876 I went into Tennessee, came to Nashville in July, 1877; rented a farm in the White creek neighborhood. In 1880 was logging for the Indiana Lumber company. Was hard at work. My health becoming injured I moved into Nashville to go into business. First met Jesse the year after I went to Nashville; it was in a store. He stepped up and spoke, but called no names. He said he was living in Hamblen county, Tenn., and buying grain. I saw Bill Ryan in 1879. I did not see Dick Liddell, Ryan and Jesse together very often. I left Nashville, firstly, to look for a livelihood for my family; secondly, to get away from these parties. We went to George Hite's, a relative in Kentucky. Regarding the officers' appearance near Hite's, three men approached, and Jesse said: 'They are after us.' I said: 'No, they can't be after us.' Then Dick Liddell said: "Jesse and I borrowing a couple of horses at Nashville, and they are after us.' The officers passed and didn't come back. Wood Hite followed them a short distance. Is is said there was a strong resemblance between Wood Hite and myself. We went from Hite's to Logan county, Kentucky, and Jesse and Dick went away—don't know where. No arrangement was made between them and me to rob the express at Kansas City. On the contrary I tried to dissuade them from going to Missouri; as it was unsafe; advised Dick to go to work. Between the 10th and 15th of May, 1881, I went to Louisville, and thence to Clay county, Texas. Went to Mrs. Palmers in June, and stayed five or six weeks. I went from there into the Indian nation, a distance of 120 miles. I returned to Mrs. Palmer's when I heard of the Winston robbery, because I supposed I would be looked up for having a hand in that transaction. While away on that trip I heard of the Bluecut robbery. When I left Tennessee I instructed my wife to go to Gen. Shelby and see if anything could be done for me, as I wanted to surrender if I could have a fair and impartial trial. I told her if nothing could be done to go to her brother's in California, which she did. In Texas my health was bad. From there I returned to Tennessee. I met my wife in Kentucky and we traveled through Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina, looking for a secluded place of residence. We finally returned to Lynchburg, Va. In April I heard of Jesse's assassination. I sought an interview with Gov. Crittenden, in which the governor stated that when the question was asked, 'What about Frank James?' that as none of Frank's friends had ever said anything to him about it, he wouldn't say what he would do. This gave me hope that I might be permitted to give myself up and have a fair trial. I had nothing to do with shipping arms into Missouri; was not in the state from the time I went to Tennessee to when I passed through from Texas in 1881."

GALLATIN, MO., Sept. 5.—The new tactics of the defense in the James trial were shown when Allan H. Palmer, of Texas, a brother-in-law of Frank, was called to testify. He swore that he saw Frank in Texas, at his home, when he came back from working on the railroad at Fort Worth, about the 1st of August, but when questioned about who he had worked for and with whom he had lodged and boarded at and about Fort Worth he could not give a single name nor describe a single man.

Frank's story was well told, and took capitally until the state got at him on cross-examination. There when it came to explaining and talking about his presence in Texas and his visit of three months, though he had ridden 450 miles, he could not name a person he had seen or stopped with, or describe a place. He was accurate and circumstantial about dates, places, and persons east of the Mississippi, but when it came to his Texas tour he was forgetful.

Belle Harris, a Mormon wife, refused to divulge the name of the father of her children, she being one of several wives to one man, and was sent to prison for contempt of court. She stayed there three months and has been released, not having given the desired information. She is looked upon as a martyr and heroine by her women friends.

Thomas W. Phillips, a prominent member of the "Desciples" church, to which Garfield belonged, says that a well-managed campaign was prosecuted among members of that church in Indiana to further the interests of the Republican candidate, and it is asserted that it was successful enough of itself to explain why Indiana went Republican at the election.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Rodiger & McIntyre's market letter of this evening says: The month of August closed on a weak market for wheat, it being generally acknowledged that the crop of spring wheat is a good one. The demand for export was less promising the past week, and shipments from here were limited, showing a total of 291,080 bushels against receipts of 553,730 bushels. To-day prices suffered further, to the extent of about 1c; October selling from $1.02 down to $1.00¾, and September touching 98¾c, the market closing with a slight improvement this noon. Corn, receipts of which have been 2,877,000 bushels against shipments of 2,614,000 for the week, was lower in price. In oats prices are so low that they yield reluctantly. Provisions have been comparatively steady, dull and without any marked feature.

The thunder shower on Friday night was quite serious, the lightning making things lively in several parts of the city. The office of the N. P. Hospital received a slight taste overturning the table, chairs, &c., and somewhat scaring the only occupant.

E. Curo, the man who has been running the Brainerd House, has jumped the country, leaving sundry unpaid debts, which together with the fact that he has sold mortgaged property make a complicated mess of it. The last named offense make it a states' prison job for him if he is found.

C. V. Wadham has leased the first floor of the I. O. O. F. building on Sixth street and will occupy it with his boot and shoe store as soon as it is ready for occupancy. Mr. W. carries a fine line of goods and with his new location he can make a fine display.

Brainerd must be an awful place for real sportsmen. The Tribune gives half a column to a catch of only 11 pounds in one day, the best of the season! The Tribune will issue an extra over a full grown cat fish if they ever get one.—[Red Lake Falls Messenger.

The business places will be closed up for a time on Saturday afternoon, so that everybody, whether employee or employer, young or old, man or woman, can turn out and swell the throng that will celebrate and help have a good time generally.

On the 17th inst. the Donaldson combination of Minneapolis will occupy Hartley Hall and give a sparring exhibition. James Mehan has been instrumental in getting them here and as they are well known undoubtedly the manager will do well by the operation, "Beecher," Banker and Phalon, of this city, will also participate.

J. H. Bixby had a narrow escape one evening last week from being robbed.—He was going through the park when he was sprang upon by a thug but escaped. These occurrences are getting to be too numerous for the comfort and safety of our people and a close lookout should be kept for these scoundrels who infest the city.

The boys who compose the Brainerd band out-did themselves at St. Paul on Monday and received more comments than any band in attendance. The Pioneer Press of Tuesday gives the following complimentary notice:

The Brainerd band, Prof. Driskell, leader, headed the traveling men's section and elicited the most favorable comment throughout the long line.

Mr. C. Roth, the Sixth street merchant, has moved his family here from St. Paul. Mr. R. has completed arrangements whereby he will occupy the first floor of L. J. Cale's new three-story brick block on Front street and will have one of the finest rooms and locations in Brainerd.

Principal—W. J. Turner, A. B.
Intermediate—Miss E. J. Hughes, of Pittsburgh.
Primaries—Misses Inez and Laura Pember.

More buildings are going up in Brainerd at the present time than the casual observer would imagine. A ride around the city discloses the fact that in every part new houses and business places are in course of construction, and buildings of very substantial proportions too. The fall building boom promises to be immense and from this time until it freezes up solid work will be pushed with all the vim that is possible. Every business in the city seems to be flourishing and our business men can thank themselves that they are located in as prosperous and growing town as Brainerd, where trade is lively the year round and where they do not have to depend entirely upon a good crop to insure their being able to continue doing business at "the old stand."

Mr. Henry Clark died in this city Monday, Sept. 3, about 6 p. m., just as the sun was setting he breathed his last.—Mr. Clarke was born in England, where he grew to manhood. After he was married he come over to Canada and settled in Montreal where he remained for several years. About four years ago he came to Brainerd. For some time he worked in the car shops. For a few months previous to his death he was engaged in running a bakery. He was sick for nearly four months and suffered greatly. He was a quiet and respected citizen. He leaves a wife and children to mourn his loss. The funeral services were conducted at the house by Elder W. W. Regan on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Clarke was 51 years old.

CELEBRATION EXTRAORDINARY!

BRAINERD TO THE FRONT

With an Industrial and Trades Procession, Speeches, Cannonading, Etc.

Let Everybody Turn Out and Make This an Occasion Long to be Remembered.

Saturday, Sept. 8th, 1883.

By the above heading it will readily be seen that something out of the usual line is to take place on Saturday of this week. This celebration is on the occasion of the driving of the Golden Spike, by Henry Villard, which will connect the gap and complete one of the greatest projects of man, the Northern Pacific railroad.—In consideration of the fact the people of this city have concluded to have a gala day, one of general rejoicing and jollification. The meeting that was caled to make arrangements for this occasion have appointed committees and completed the program and everything for a good time. The shops and business places will be closed and everybody is expected to lend a helping hand. The Little Falls band and Hartley Guards will be here to lend assistance, and if the arrangements that are laid down are carried out everything will pass of smoothly and to the satisfaction of all.

One of the prominent features of the day will be an Industrial and Trade procession, which will form at the corner of Sixth and Front streets at 1:30 p. m., where a line of March will be commenced, ending at Grogory Square, where speeches, music, refreshments and other attractions will be indulged in.

Excursion rates have been obtained from all points on the Northern Pacific railroad, so that parties from neighboring localities and towns can participate.

This occasion is intended to be the banner celebration north of St. Paul and with the co-operation of the citizens it can be made so.

The following letter was sent by the committee appointed to President Villard and, as will be seen by his reply, his party will stop at Brainerd on their way back, about the 19th or 20th, when another demonstration will be indulged in:

H. VILLARD, Esq.,
President N. P. R. R. Co.

Sir.—We, the undersigned, appointed as a committee for the purpose by the citizens of Brainerd, would earnestly request that, on your return from the ceremonies incidental to driving the Golden Spike that formally completes your great road, you with your distinguished guests will make it convenient to spend a few hours in Brainerd.

It would be a pleasure to us and perhaps of interest to yourself and guests to view this rapidly growing town, which has increased from a population of 1,960 in June, 1880, to 12,000 at the present moment.

Its citizens would be greatly pleased to greet you.

We are, with great respect, and in behalf of our fellow citizens,

Your obedient servants,
A. HOLLINGSWORTH,
LEON E. LUM.

HOTEL LAFAYETTE,
Minnetonka Beech, Minn., Sept. 3, 1883.

Messrs. A. Hollingsworth and Leon E. Lum, committee.

Brainerd, Minn.

GENTLEMEN.—I beg to acknowledge receipt of and thank you for your favor of 1st inst.

In reply I am happy to say that myself and guests expect to stop at Brainerd on our return.

Respectfully yours,
H. VILLARD.

Mr. S. Walker, of Brainerd formerly of Santiago in this county, passed up Monday night with two carloads of very fine cattle for his market in Brainerd.—[Elk River Star.

The Little Falls Transcript says:

George R. Perley, a leading citizen of Brainerd, was in town Wednesday forenoon. He had lost his way and returned home on the first train.

F. X. Lafond came down from Brainerd on Friday to make his family a visit. He returned the first of the week, and has charge of Orr & Sceley's saw mill of that place. He reports everything running smoothly, but the supply of logs rather short.

B. E. Banker and Ben Lafond, two Brainerd professors of the manly art of self defense, will probably give a sparring exhibition in Little Falls during fair week.

H. Harrison, employed on the Brainerd Dispatch, was in town the first of the week visiting his family.

A party of Brainerd sportsmen are going out to Mille Lacs Lake, next week, on a hunting expedition. They don't seem to know that Lake Atexandria, but a little over 20 mile from that town, is ahead of any other place in the State for such expeditions.

In connection with the sudden and mysterious disappearance of Mr. Vining, from Brainerd, it is now said that his family are aware of his whereabouts, and that it is a move to evade numerous obligations. It is asserted that his father-in-law told about his leaving Brainerd, at least two weeks ago. We give the statements for what they are worth.—[Little Falls Sun.

In regard to the prisoner who escaped from the officer near Brainerd on the 25th, the Little Falls Sun has the following to say:

The facts are that soon after the horses were stolen, Sheriff Rasicot visited Fargo in search of the thieves, and being fully convinced that the thieves had taken that course, and that they would sooner or later pass through that city, he left such information as he possessed with the police of that city, with instructions to telegraph him in case of arrest. It seems, however, that John P. Sand, who is a brother of the owner of the stolen team and one of Sheriff Rasicot's deputies, went to Fargo after Rasicot's return, and stayed there and in that vicinity, on the look out, and resulted in the capture of one of the thieves in possession of the team. Sand, and not Rasicot, was the officer in charge of the prisoner at the time of the escape. It is to be regretted that it was not Sheriff Rasicot, as, if he had been, this horse thief would now be safely lodged in the county bastile. No county in the state can boast of a more efficient sheriff than this, and we feel perfectly safe in saying that when any criminal gets into Sheriff Rasicot's clutches he won't get away until released by due process of law. We understand that Sand sold the recovered team at Brainerd. They were so badly used up as to be practically worthless.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

According to the invitations previously issued, the above event took place at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, at the corner of Seventh and Juniper streets, on Wednesday evening, September 5th, 1883. The hour for the ceremony was set at 9 o'clock, but long before that hour the church was filled to overflowing, in fact the doorway and entrance was crowded with invited guests to witness the impressive ceremony. At precisely 9 o'clock, there was a rustling at the doorway which announced the arrival of the bridal party. They were escorted to the chancel by the ushers in the following order: Messrs. Koop and Parsons, followed by the bridesmaids and groomsmen, Mr. Ed. Hazen and Miss Jennie White, Dr. Kennedy and Miss Maud Sleeper, then came the bride's mother, Mrs. C. B. Sleeper, supported by the bridegroom, the bride, Miss Blanche Sleeper, being escorted by her father, Col. C. B. Sleeper. In the rear was two little girls, Miss Ethel Mason and Kinnie Wakely, who strewed flowers in the walk of the party, after which came the ushers, Messrs. F. M. Cable and Harry Gross. The bridal party took their position before the altar, where the solemn and impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Hawley. The altar was handsomely decorated with flowers and they certainly made a very comely wedding party.

The bride was dressed in cream colored gro-grain silk trimmed with costly white lace and made with a long train, while orange blossoms and a long tulle veil hanging down in graceful folds helped to complete the suit. Miss Maud Sleeper and Miss Jennie White, the bridesmaids, were dressed to suit the occasion, the former in white India mull, en train, the latter in Swiss muslin and satin en train.

The party repaired from the church edifice to the residence of Col. Sleeper on Laurel, where the reception was held from 10 till 11, and the newly married couple received many a harty congratulation for their life-long happiness and prosperity. The refreshments were served in the new opera house and an elegant repast it was indeed, the tables being ladened with all the luxuries of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith took the 2.15 train for Buffalo, N. Y., where they will visit for a few days and they will make a tour of the eastern cities and Canada, returning to their future home at Brainerd in about four weeks.

The following is the list of presents which were tendered to the couple and by a careful perusal they will be seen to be very elegant and costly:

To the bride from her father and mother, lot 12, block 39, first addition to the town (now city) of Brainerd.

To the bride and groom from Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sleeper, lots from 1 to 9 inclusive, in block 2 in Sleeper's Park addition to the city of Brainerd.

Consumption.

50,000 people die annually in the United States alone from this disease. This should be avoided; our people are too careless about an ordinary cough or cold, and other symptoms, of throat and lung affections lead to this disease. Two or three doses of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup will relieve an ordinary cough or cold. It does not dry up a cough like many preparations, and leave the descase behind it, but acts directly on the throat and bronchial tubes, removing all the phlegm and morbid matter that accumulates in the throat and lungs. It allays all irritation, and renders the voice clear and distinct. Trial size free. Sold by F. M. Cable & Co.

Mr. C. Roth has just returned from the Eastern markets, where he has been buying the finest and best selected stock of dry goods, &c., &c., ever brought to this market. It will pay you to look in at the Chicago store, Gross' old stand, Sixth street, before buying.

A moisture like perspiration, psoducing a very disagreeable itching, particularly at night after getting warm in bed, is a very common attendant. Blind, bleeding and itching piles yield at once to to Dr. Bosanko's Pile remedy which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and affecting a permanent curi, where all other remedies have failed. Try it and be cured. Price, 50 cents, Sold by F. M. Cable & Co.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE.

Things Reported Concerning Men and Parties.

INDEPENDENCE, Iowa, Aug. 30.—The first joint discussion between the Republican and Democratic candidates for the governorship of Iowa took place at this place. The day was auspicious and the city was crowded with visitors. At the hour appointed fully five thousand people had gathered in court-house park to listen to the discussion. Quite a number of distinguished persons besides the speakers were present.

In the evening Gen. Weaver, the Greenback candidate for governor, spoke in the park, and he will be answered by Col. Hepburn, of Clarinda, Friday evening.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 1.—The Greenback state convention met and organized with Thos. A. Armstrong of Pittsburg, as president. T. P. Rynder, of Altoona, and Capt. A. T. Marsh, of Erie, were renominated for auditor general and state treasurer respectively. T. P. Rynder was elected state chairman. The platform refers to the failure of the trade dollar to pass current as an argument in favor of the fiat idea, and calls upon the government to take upon itself the sole issue of money in sufficient amount to transact the business of the country upon a cash basis; denounces the national bank system, and monopoly of all kinds; favors a tariff for protection and a national bureau of labor.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Gen. Tom Nelson, of Indiana, ex-minister to Mexico, is in the city. He said he could name a Democratic ticket that would be hard to beat in Indiana, and he was a Republican. Dan Voorhees for governor, he said, would sweep the state for the Democrats. McDonald for president could also carry Indiana, he thought.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The Sun has a brief paragraph in its issue which definitely seems to put the "old ticket" business at rest. In answer to a correspondent who asked on whose authority The Sun had said that "it is certain that Mr. Tilden would not accept a nomination," that estimable journal frankly and cheerfully replied: "Our authority is a gentleman named Samuel J. Tilden."

WATERLOO, Iowa, Sept. 3.—Hon. Horace Boles, of this city, the leader of the anti-prohibition Republican movement in this state, addressed a large audience in Burnham's opera house. He said that prohibition had been made a partisan issue, and that the cry of the home against the saloon was a libel upon thousands of our citizens. Every voter should let his vote represent the dictates of his own conscience, regardless of party dictation. As a settlement of the liquor question he favored a license not so high as to be disregarded nor so low that it would not pay the increased taxation which the traffic brings about.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—While the Tallapoosa was at Bar Harbor, Me., recently, with Secretary Chandler and his wife on board, the secretary made no secret of his preference for Arthur for the presidency in 1884.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 2.—Gath telegraphs the Enquirer: The Sun's attempts to make Mr. Holman, of Indiana, president is chiefly effective by the leads between the type. Holman and Sunset Cox are pony candidates, and lack legs.

The Atlantic Gales.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—A St. Johns (N. F.) special says: The fleet of United States fishing-vessels which have arrived here reports a violent storm on the Great Banks on Sunday last. The gale rose from the eastward at 8 a. m., when hundreds of dories were away from the vessels overhauling trawls. Captain Hillier reports scores of dories turned upside down, and wreckage was strewn in every direction along his track coming westward. One French "banker" lost four dories and all their crews. It is computed, from all sources of information, that 100 dories and eighty men were lost in the storm. Most of the dories were swept by waves from the schooners' decks and the remainder capsized in the sea.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 3.—The first reliable information of the loss of life in the recent terrible storm on the coast of Novia Scotia come to hand, the sad news being of the drowning of nineteen Lunenburg fishermen by the wrecking of two vessels, and the probable death also of the entire crew of another bark.

The brigantine S. J. Micoon, which arrived here from Inaqua, brings news of the wreck of an unknown vessel, with the probable loss of her crew.

New Telegraph Scheme.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 1.—The Citizens' and Telegraphers' National Union Telegram and Cablegram company is announced. The capital stock is $5,000,000, in shares of $25 each, no person to be permitted to hold over $100,000 worth. The object of the company is to purchase or construct and operate independent telegraph and cable lines in the United States and Canada and across the Atlantic.

The articles of incorporation provide that the wires in cities shall be placed underground so far as practicable; that telephone patents may be purchased and telephone business transacted; that the term of existence of the company shall be fifty years; that the executive board shall consist of eight members, of whom four shall be from each of the classes specified; that the main office shall be in New York city and branch offices in Boston, Chicago, Washington, Charleston, New Orleans, San Francisco, and such other places as may be deemed necessary, and that as soon as $200,000 shall have been subscribed to the stock, work on the construction of the lines shall begin.

Young Nutt's Trial.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept, 3.—It has been difficult to obtain counsel to assist Prosecuting Attorney Young in the trial of young Nutt, who shot Dukes, after the latter had killed his (Nutt's) father, and written a letter announcing that he had debauched the sister and daughter. David Patterson, of Pittsburg, appears in the case, and assists District Attorney Johnson. The trial begins Sept. 6. Many gratuitous offers of counsel for the defendant have been made, but it is not yet known who will appear in the case.

Remarkable Tidal Wave.

"SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—Earthquake waves commenced on the San Celito tide-gauge at 1 o'clock a. m., August 27. They had increased in height, and still being exhibited. The height of the waves was about one foot, and the time about 40 minutes between the crests."

The remarkable disturbances noted above were probably caused by the same earthquake and tidal wave that destroyed Anjier and other towns in Java on the 27th of August.

Trouble in Colombia.

PANAMA, Aug. 31.—News from the interior of Colombia, received by steamer, says: "The political party represented by the "Solud Publica club" attempted a revolution, which was suppressed, and the political horizon is now brighter.

Temperance Convention.

COTTAGE CITY, Mass., Sept. 1.—The National Women's Christian Temperance union has begun a four days' convention at the Methodist tabernacle. Addresses were made by Mrs. Caroline Z. Buell, corresponding secretary of the union, and others. In the evening the principal address was by Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, of Boston.

Telegraphers' Salaries.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The Western Union Telegraph Company has issued an order making the hours for night work eight instead of seven and a half, and allowing extra pay for Sunday work. Extra service will be based on the number of week days in a month. This will result in a considerable increase of salary.

Pushing Things.

PANAMA, Sept. 1.—The works of the Panama canal are being pushed forward with great energy. The total number of workmen employed is over 10,000, principally Jamaicans. The work is divided among a number of contractors.

Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Commodore English has received the following telegram from Pensacola, dated Aug. 31: "Three new cases reported—two marines at the hospital, and one yard employe of the pay department, lately attending Brown."

Woman Suffrage Association.

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—The American Woman's Suffrage association will hold its annual meeting in the Brooklyn Academy of Music on Oct. 9 and 10.

Demand for Standard Dollars.

CROP OUTLOOK.

The Prospects as Set Forth by Various Reports.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Mark Lane Express, in a review of the British grain trade the last week, says: Fine weather the last fortnight has had an inestimable effect on crops, which are being threshed and marketed very fast, but the present indications are that the wheat crop of the United Kingdom this year will be one of the smallest ever known. Trade the last week in foreign wheat is quite demoralized.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 29.—The official estimates of the wheat and other crops in Russia show the yield to be generally satisfactory.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 30.—Reports from 100 tobacco towns in the Connecticut and Housatonic valleys indicate that the tobacco crop will be a full average one and excelling in quality.

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 2.—The frosts have killed the buckwheat crops in all this section of the country not protected by the lake winds, and the corn crop in the valleys has also been killed, and has been cut up by the farmers to save it for feed.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Mr. J. C. McMullin, vice-president, and Mr. C. H. Chappell, general manager of the Chicago & Alton, has returned from a trip of inspection over their road. They speak enthusiastically of the prospects for a good corn crop this year along their entire line. In Missouri, they say, the corn has so far advanced that frost can do it no danger, and two weeks more of fine weather will insure a full crop in Illinois.

Villard's Guests.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Mr. Henry Villard, president of the Northern Pacific, has at length, through his private secretary, completed the roster of his transcontinental excursion party which will witness the driving of the last spike on the great Northern line the morning of Sept. 8, near Helena, M. T. The list includes 336 names, and is composed of noted men from all the civilized nations.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—President Arthur is to join the Villard excursion to attend the opening ceremonies of the Northern Pacific railway.

LAKE MINNETONKA, Minn., Sept. 3.—About 350 of the guests of the Northern Pacific road spent Sunday together here. Complaint is made that the earl of Onslow demands for himself and lady a special coach, with baggage car for his personal effects, and sent his servants to find accommodation among the invited guests. Secretary Teller has joined the party. Gen. Grant and Wm. M. Evarts are members of the party.

The seven months of the current year, to the end of July show a total of 930 accidents, 278 killed, and 1,012 injured; a monthly average of 133 accidents, 40 killed, and 145 injured. Excitement in France.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—This has been a day of excitement in social as well as political circles, and all classes are deeply agitated. Between the hours of sunset and sunrise the entire city was placarded with copies of a proclamation which pronounced the Comte de Paris king of France under the title of Louis Philippe II. The dangerous bits of paper were not discovered until morning, and then they adorned nearly every billboard and dead wall. It is estimated that no less a number than 25,000 were put out.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The business failures throughout the United States and Canada, as reported to New York, number for the seven days ending August 31, 186, as compared with 165 last week, showing an increase of 21, distributed as follows: New England states, 26; middle states, 26; southern, 31; western, 52; Pacific states and territories, 22; Canada and the Provinces, 28; New York city, 1.

Some Chicagoan telegraphed a Boston financier that the patent suit of Pullman against the Wagner company will be settled by a consolidation of the organizations.
